DEPARTMENT OF CONTEMPORARY DANCE

AUDITIONS 2014 MARCH 28, 29, 30

The Department of Contemporary Dance is designed to develop contemporary dancers and choreographers, with an emphasis on the discovery and development of the creative capacity of each student.

It is one of the few dance departments in Canada to offer courses in choreography. Students have the opportunity to stage their choreographies for and with fellow students in the dance program, as well as collaborate on performances with students in the university's other performing arts areas.

Dedicated to these creative and choreographic processes, the dynamic Contemporary Dance curriculum teaches technical skills, theory, creative thinking, self-direction and studio exploration. Based on a comprehensive approach to practice and theory, the program integrates courses in music, stage production, interdisciplinary practices and general arts and science subjects.
